Selection

The selection is based on 30-285 credits

Course Aim

After the course students will know how to analyse, deal with problems of form, shape and colour from different perspectives. Show in-depth knowledge of norm-critical perspectives on product aesthetics and product semiotics. Demonstrate ability to apply norm-critical and norm-creative perspectives in design projects.

Contents

2D,3D visual analysis, colour analysis and composition applied on experimental studies. Semantic and aesthetic aspects in designing.

Realization

Each course occasion's language and form is stated and appear on the course page on Luleå University of Technology's website.

Lectures, laboratories and seminars. In the course theories from the lectures are practiced as experimental assignments performed individually. Assignments are presented in seminars. In the course students have to Design and produce a work book that summarize the course content

Examination

If there is a decision on special educational support, in accordance with the Guideline Student's rights and obligations at Luleå University of Technology, an adapted or alternative form of examination can be provided. Presentations in discussion seminars, approved exercises and assignments. Examination I based on how the assignments are performed, how they are presented and how well the student have used theories. In the work book the student must show the process behind the result and reflect on the results from the assignments and on the course as a whole.

Unauthorized aids during exams and assessments

If a student, by using unauthorized aids, tries to mislead during an exam or when a study performance is to be assessed, disciplinary measures may be taken. The term "unauthorized aids" refers to aids that the teacher has not previously specified as permissible aids and that may assist in solving the examination task. This means that all aids not specified as permissible are prohibited. The Swedish version has interpretative precedence in the event of a conflict.

Remarks

Students must register for the courses themselves, or contact ETKS educational administration eduetks@ltu.se, not later than three days after the quarter commences. Failure to do so can result in the place being lost. This rule also applies to students with a guaranteed place.
