Course Aim

After completing the course the student should be able to:

Knowledge and understanding

1. Describe and discuss the key concepts in management of innovation, and how these concepts relate to each other.
2. Explain how these key concepts relate to the achievement of goals in the innovation environments, such as increased product innovation, efficient processes, or new services.
3. Explain when various management and organisational strategies are applicable and how they must adapt to different types of external situations.

Skills and abilities

4. Analysing the organisations practical challenges in generating and implementing innovation by applying key concepts in the course.
5. Theorise and reflect on the problems, opportunities, system boundaries and the "ground rules" that enable or hinder innovation and progress toward goals in organisations.

Judgement and approach

6. Critically analyze and evaluate the use of concepts and theories in innovation management
7. Independently evaluate and develop own and fellow students' work

Contents

The course has a strategic management and organizational perspective on innovation and innovative development; of what innovation is, how it occurs and how innovation can be stimulated, led and organized.

Realization

Each course occasion's language and form is stated and appear on the course page on Luleå University of Technology's website.

The course consists of lectures and seminars where course participants discusses management and organizational tools and how these can be applied in innovative contexts. The course also include case studies and project work.

Examination

If there is a decision on special educational support, in accordance with the Guideline Student's rights and obligations at Luleå University of Technology, an adapted or alternative form of examination can be provided. The course is examined through compulsory assignments with oral presentations and by written exam.

Unauthorized aids during exams and assessments

If a student, by using unauthorized aids, tries to mislead during an exam or when a study performance is to be assessed, disciplinary measures may be taken. The term "unauthorized aids" refers to aids that the teacher has not previously specified as permissible aids and that may assist in solving the examination task. This means that all aids not specified as permissible are prohibited. The Swedish version has interpretative precedence in the event of a conflict.

Remarks

Students must register for the courses themselves, or contact ETKS educational administration eduetks@ltu.se, not later than three days after the quarter commences. Failure to do so can result in the place being lost. This rule also applies to students with a guaranteed place.

Due to overlap, the course cannot be included in the degree together with E7005N or other course with similar content.

Overlap
