Main field of study

Musical Performance

Entry requirements

Musical Performance - Composition 1 (H7015G), Musical Performance - Composition 2 (H7014G) and Artistic Research Processes: Theory and Method (C7010G)

Selection

The selection is based on 30-285 credits

Course Aim

This course's overall objective is for the student to demonstrate an ability

- to compose a major artistic research degree project at the Master's level in musical and written form, based on his/her own activities as a composer; and
- to examine similar work in a reflective discussion.

In his/her degree project, the student shall demonstrate an ability

- to investigate and reflect on musical-artistic questions tied to one's own artistic activities as a composer
- to independently apply knowledge and insights gained in the area of composition, with regard to artistic expression and reflection on impressions
- to put one's own work in a broader artistic and knowledge-based context
- to apply relevant research methods
- to seek and apply knowledge relevant to the work on his/her own initiative
- to communicate the insights gained in a professional manner in writing, orally and music.

For the specialisation of Composition, the student must demonstrate:

- an ability as a practising composer to express artistic originality for all types of ensembles,
- an ability to reflect on expressions and put this into a personal, artistic and identity-creating context,
- an ability to conduct all the work that can apply to a composer from the delivery of the score to the artistic performance including public presentation.

Contents

The degree project shall include an artistic musical production as a substantial component. A question is formulated in relation to this production that is addressed with methods relevant to the chosen subject. This project is presented in both musical and written form. The written presentation shall have the nature of independent reflection and/or investigation. The artistic production and the written presentation shall be well integrated and form a coherent whole.

The student shall actively participate in discussions and complete and present assignments at seminars. Such assignments may, for example, concern presentation of literature or examination of components of other students' on-going independent projects.

Realization

Each course occasion's language and form is stated and appear on the course page on Luleå University of Technology's website.

The course is primarily carried out as a degree project in the form of

- preparations of one's own musical production
- one's own research work, including literature study
- presentation of one's own written and musical production.

The degree project is supported through

- artistic supervision and text supervision
- seminars where, among other things, one's own and others' on-going degree projects are discussed.

The artistic component of the degree project shall comprise a score or an audio or video recording, or a combination of these; other presentation forms can also be included, such as a concert or other public performance, or an installation. The artistic component shall be documented in a suitable format considering the nature of the work.

Examination

If there is a decision on special educational support, in accordance with the Guideline Student's rights and obligations at Luleå University of Technology, an adapted or alternative form of examination can be provided. The degree project shall be presented in its entirety for discussion at a public final review. The final review takes place with opposition and the student shall him- or herself participate in opposition for another degree project within the course.

Examination 1 - The master's thesis is discussed and approved in part time seminar 1 - 10 credits

Examination 2 - Approved as opponent and respondent in part time seminar 2 and final thesis seminar - 5 credits

Examination 3 - The master's thesis is approved - 15 credits

To pass the course the student shall participate in compulsory meetings and seminars as well as register the thesis according to LTUs rules.

Unauthorized aids during exams and assessments

If a student, by using unauthorized aids, tries to mislead during an exam or when a study performance is to be assessed, disciplinary measures may be taken. The term “unauthorized aids” refers to aids that the teacher has not previously specified as permissible aids and that may assist in solving the examination task. This means that all aids not specified as permissible are prohibited. The Swedish version has interpretative precedence in the event of a conflict.

Remarks

Students must register for the courses themselves, or contact ETKS educational administration eduetks@ltu.se, not later than three days after the quarter commences. Failure to do so can result in the place being lost. This rule also applies to students with a guaranteed place.
