Selection

The selection is based on 1-165 credits.

Course Aim

After completion of the course, students should be able to discuss and problematize the interrelationship between human, society and the environment with technology through history. In addition, they should be able to identify and describe a number of examples of the interrelationship in different historical times. Students should also be able to use relevant learning tools, such as IKT pedagogy.

Contents

The course focus on and problematize the interrelationship between human, society and the environment with technology through history, with focus on the 19th and 20th centuries. Thus, both the social drive behind technological development and the social impact of the technology, and environmental consequences are identified, as well as learning tools relevant to the field of knowledge.

Realization

Each course occasion's language and form is stated and appear on the course page on Luleå University of Technology's website.

Lessons, lectures, seminars and individual in-depth assignments. Through individual in-depth assignments and seminars, the student get the chance to work with different learning tools relevant to the field of knowledge, such as IKT pedagogy.

Examination

If there is a decision on special educational support, in accordance with the Guideline Student's rights and obligations at Luleå University of Technology, an adapted or alternative form of examination can be provided.

Individual in-depth assignments, 5,5 credits (U, G, VG).

Active participation in seminars, 2 credits (U, G).

Unauthorized aids during exams and assessments

If a student, by using unauthorized aids, tries to mislead during an exam or when a study performance is to be assessed, disciplinary measures may be taken. The term “unauthorized aids” refers to aids that the teacher has not previously specified as permissible aids and that may assist in solving the examination task. This means that all aids not specified as permissible are prohibited. The Swedish version has interpretative precedence in the event of a conflict.

Remarks

Students must register for the courses themselves or contact ETKS educational administration eduetks@ltu.se, not later than three days after the quarter commences. Failure to do so can result in the place being lost. This rule also applies to students with a guaranteed place.

Some parts of the course realization may be in English.
