Realization

Each course occasion's language and form is stated and appear on the course page on Luleå University of Technology's website.

Number of participants: Maximum 10, minimum 2. The studies are pursued alternating in seminars with the whole group and with a small group of two. This in order to have a possibility at whole-group occasions to examine and discuss subjects and in that case give the participants a chance to communicate to each other different know-ledge and experiences. This also gives an opportunity to train giving and receiving criticism, to stand up for a point of view, and to make a self-evaluation. At the two-group occasions it is possible for teacher and student to penetrate more in detail the specific problems and questions arisen at the solution of the instrumentation tasks.

Examination

If there is a decision on special educational support, in accordance with the Guideline Student's rights and obligations at Luleå University of Technology, an adapted or alternative form of examination can be provided. At the two-group occasions every student will present a completed instrumentation task in noted form. At some occasions a sounding example could be necessary. This will be discussed by the teacher and the student. For approved course it is also demanded active participation at seminars. The assessment of the tasks will be done by the examiner/teacher.
