- Clearly communicate research results in English, in writing as well as orally
- Show understanding of the limitations and assess the quality of market research projects
- Plan and manage a project within a specified time frame

Contents

The course deals with the role of market information in companies and how market research can be used for business decisions. The process from formulation of the business problem to communication of research results is studied and practised. A particular focus is placed on quantitative method and statistical analysis, for which students will use the SPSS software.

Realization

Each course occasion's language and form is stated and appear on the course page on Luleå University of Technology's website.

The course consists of lectures, seminars, exercises, and a larger project in which students practice their ability to plan and conduct market research. The project is conducted for, and presented to, a client; i.e. an external company/organization. The course is carried out in English.

Examination

If there is a decision on special educational support, in accordance with the Guideline Student's rights and obligations at Luleå University of Technology, an adapted or alternative form of examination can be provided. In compulsory assignments, the student should demonstrate ability to:

- Motivate and explain how a business problem can be solved by using the chosen methods
- Develop an instrument for quantitative data collection
- Provide constructive feedback on an instrument for data collection
- Show understanding of the limitations and assess the quality of market research projects

In project work, the student should demonstrate ability to:

- Formulate and define business problems for which market research can be used as a solution
- Describe and explain the chosen method for market research, and also motivate and explain how a business problem can be solved by using the chosen method
- Develop an instrument for quantitative data collection
- Conduct a focus group as well as a quantitative study to solve a business problem
- Analyze quantitative data through the use of statistical techniques
- Make relevant conclusions based on results from market research and from this make recommendations for business decisions
- Clearly communicate research results in English, in writing as well as orally
- Show understanding of the limitations and assess the quality of market research projects
- Plan and manage a project within the specified time frame

Presence during compulsory sessions is required.

Unauthorized aids during exams and assessments

If a student, by using unauthorized aids, tries to mislead during an exam or when a study performance is to be assessed, disciplinary measures may be taken. The term "unauthorized aids" refers to aids that the teacher has not previously specified as permissible aids and that may assist in solving the examination task. This means that all aids not specified as permissible are prohibited. The Swedish version has interpretative precedence in the event of a conflict.

Remarks

Students must register for the courses themselves, or contact ETKS educational administration eduetks@ltu.se, not later than three days after the quarter commences. Failure to do so can result in the place being lost. This rule also applies to students with a guaranteed place.
